Tom Norton Appointed First Principal at Lakeshore Campus

Humber College of Applied Arts and Technology is pleased to announce the appointment of Tom Norton as the first principal of the new Lakeshore Campus.

Mr. Norton has been with Humber since 1968 in a variety of capacities and most recently as Dean of the Retraining and Apprenticeship Division.

Donald White, chairman of the Board of Governors of Humber College, recently made the official announcement.

He also said many remarkable opportunities will be available for Humber by being the first post-secondary institution in Toronto to have a major campus on Lake Ontario.

Mr. Norton, born in Hamilton and now a resident of Oakville, is an honours graduate in history, receiving his Bachelor of Arts Degree from the University of Toronto.

The new principal said the Lakeshore Campus will have a major commitment to the people already working in Toronto as well as recent secondary school graduates.

"We will try to develop the new campus so that it has the flexibility and availability of services required by the part-time learner with many new ideas we've been experimenting with for the past four years", said Mr. Norton.

Humber College is presently operating some classes in the Lakeshore Teachers College.

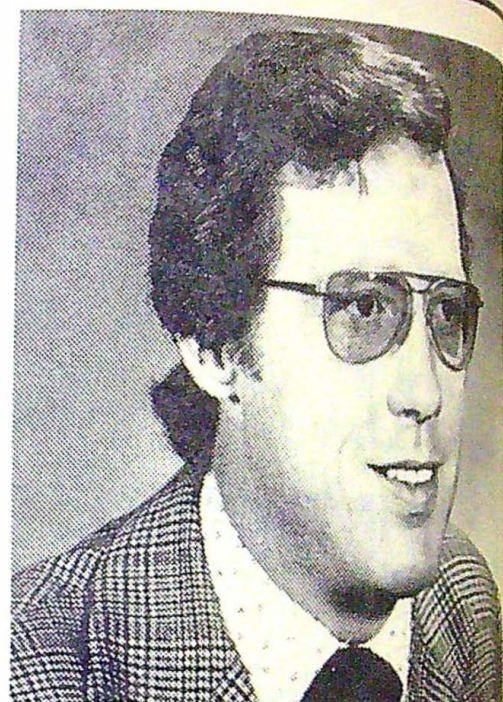

The complete new site, from Lake Ontario to Lakeshore Boulevard and west of Kipling Avenue to the Lakeshore Psychiatric Hospital will be available for occupancy in the summer of 1975.

Personal

Humber Happenings will feature a page called PERSONAL in each edition starting in October.

The page will include items wanted and for sale and places to rent and sell.

Peter Spratt Becomes New Principal Of Vancouver College

Peter Spratt, former Executive Dean of Vancouver College, has become Principal of Capilano College, Vancouver, B.C.

Mr. Spratt said recently he has developed new programs for Capilano because he believes programs develop as they are needed.

"I see the role of Principal as providing a sphere where faculty can develop innovative programs in response to demand", said Mr. Spratt, whose tenure was effective on September 1.

He stressed that colleges must be made more effective through increased community involvement.

"Capilano has gone far in community education. I'd like to continue that trend", he said.

"Education is an on-going thing", said Mr. Spratt. "I think I speak for all of North America, not just when I say that the trend will continue to be that time studies, community education programs are like that".

A high school dropout who entered York University as a mature student at age 27, Mr. Spratt has a Bachelor of Arts degree and has completed the course for a Ph.D., both in political science at the University of Toronto. He specialized in Canadian studies.

As Executive Dean at Humber, Mr. Spratt was responsible for the design and implementation of new programs and courses, as well as the final selection of faculty.

"I'm sorry to leave Humber", said Mr. Spratt. "I have fantastic people there, and furthermore, I hope our programs more responsive to the community than any other college in Ontario."

Prior to his three years at Humber College, Mr. Spratt was at Seneca College, where his last appointment was Chairman of the Liberal Studies Division. Before moving into college administration, he taught Canadian History and Government at Toronto and York Universities.

Mr. Spratt is 38 years of age and he and his wife have four children.

Pro Dev

A most sincere welcome to the faculty of Humber College. As you probably know already, formal training and certification is not a prerequisite for membership on the faculty of a community college. Instead, we try to arrange interesting, worthwhile and possibly exciting activities for people after they have been

No one will try to teach you how to teach. We will try to pour you or your subject into one mold. We will try to give you a chance to experiment, to talk about what you think about the whole creative process of teaching. If you have taught before, we will welcome your voice of experience. If you have not taught before, we will welcome your fresh approach.

Recently, an orientation program was held at Greenwood Park for new staff of Humber College.

Discussions, lectures, meals and swimming were some of the activities planned for the week.

ROBERT DAVIDSON

MILDRED TOOGOOD

Have you called any large companies lately and received a run-around on the telephone?

It happens to everybody once in a while, but if you're a newspaperman, it occurs daily.

You invariably wind up talking to the girls on the switchboard several times before your call is correctly processed. You get to every department, except the one you want and by the time you reach the person you're calling, you forget why you're calling.

These multi-complex telephone networks are installed in all the big corporations and they're there for efficiency's sake. The idea is to get rid of all incoming calls as quickly as possible in order to get to the next one.

Try calling a university or community college. If you want to speak to a classics professor, you must first go through the Latin, Greek literature and Roman history departments before you discover that your lecturer is involved in a ping pong tournament in the faculty lounge and cannot be disturbed since he's made it to the finals.

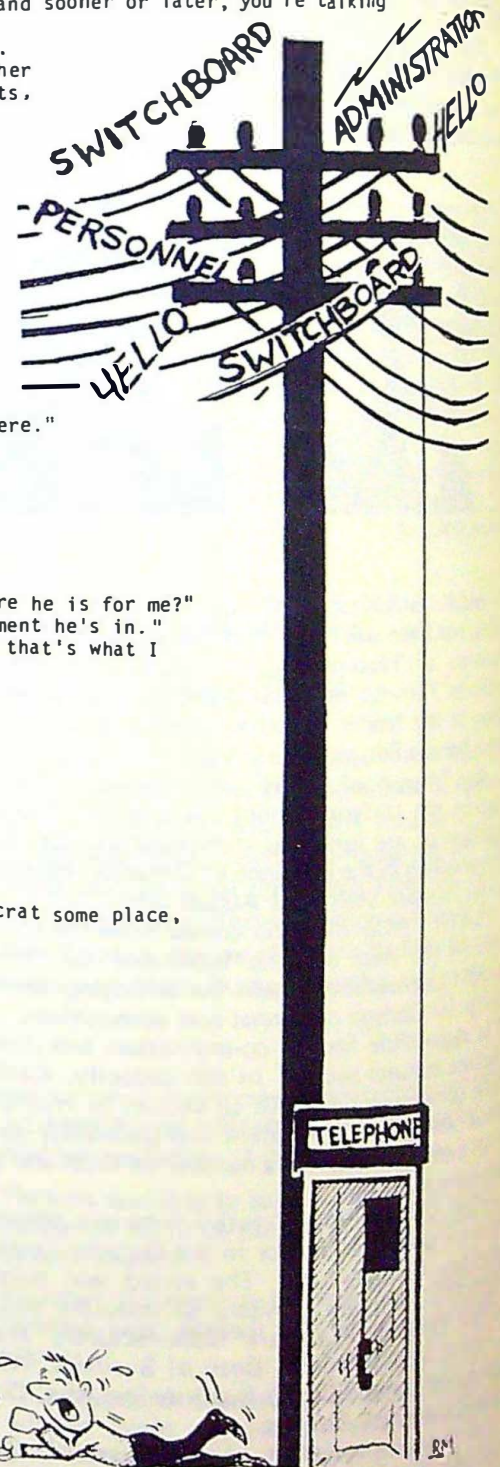

Or try reaching Joe Blow of Blow, Mason and Colombo, Barristers. You inevitably find the three of them are down at the bar again discussing work (of course) and the best you can do is leave a message which probably won't be answered. So you speak to the young law student in the office and sooner or later, you're talking to the caretaker.

These telephone networks can be the most frustrating part of the day. The worst thing in the run-around is the operator who talks through her nose. You know the type. They work at places like Bureaucrat Investments, Inc.

"Good morning, Bureaucrat."
"Hello, I'd like to speak to Jack Farthason, please."
"What department is he in, sir?"
"Gee, I don't know. I was told to call and ask for his name."
"One moment please."
"What? Hello? Hello?"
"Personnel."
"Oh, I'd like to speak to Jack Farthason, please."
"There's no one here by that name, sir."
"But I was just connected to you."
"I'll put you back to switchboard."
"What?"
"Switchboard."
"Hello? You connected me to personnel and Farthason doesn't work there."
"Who do you want to speak to?"
"Jack Farthason."
"He's not in personnel?"
"No!"
"What department is he in, sir?"
"I don't know!"
"I'm sorry. I can't help you."
"Wait a minute! He works at Bureaucrat. Why can't you find out where he is for me?"
"Lots of people work at Bureaucrat, sir. I have to know what department he's in."
"Look, I was told to call Bureaucrat today and ask for Farthason and that's what I did!"
"One moment please."
"Hello? Hello?"
"Bzzz. Click. Bzzz."
"General administration."
"What?"
"General administration. May I help you?"
"I want to talk to Jack Farthason."
"There's no one here by..."
"Dammit! All I want..."
"Switchboard."
"Oh no! Look, I'm trying to get Jack Farthason. He works at Bureaucrat some place, but I'm not sure where. Can't you help me?"
"What's the name?"
"Farthason! F-A-R...!"
"Can you hold a moment?"
"What?"
"Bzzz. Click. Bzzz."
"Thank you for waiting. May I help you?"
"Where's Jack Farthason?"
"What department is he in, sir?"
"I don't know!"
"One moment, please."
"Hello? Hello!"
"Good morning, Bureaucrat."
"Where am I?"
"I beg your pardon, sir."
"Where's Jack Farthason?"
"One moment please."
"Hello!"
"Mr. Farthason's office."
"What? It is? Farthason?"
"This is his office, sir."
"Thank God! Tell me, what department is Mr. Farthason in over there?"
"He's not in any department, sir."
"What do you mean he's not in any department?"
"Mr. Farthason is the president of Bureaucrat, sir. If you'd like to speak to an employee I'll put you through to switchboard."
"Switchboard, may I help you?"

The increased use and popularity of the motorcycle has prompted the College to organize with the help of manufacturers, dealers, clubs, and the Canada Safety Council a two day motorcycle product demonstration and safety promotion show. The OPP Golden Helmet Precision team will perform as well as skills demonstrations by professional riders. It is hoped that this show will be successful and presented on an annual basis.

Humber College Lottery - Win a $250.00 Canada Savings Bond

The Lottery to-date has been relatively successful and $450.00 has been presented to the College for use in aiding students attending the College. To ensure a successful completion the balance of the tickets for September/October/November/December must be sold and all staff are asked to support this worthwhile project. To facilitate this, ticket sellers are now selling tickets for all remaining months. If you'd like to purchase a ticket call John Cameron at extension 205.

Humber College Paper Recycle Program

Although this project has had a shaky start, with support from all staff, it can provide conscientious conservation of a natural resource and provide additional funds for student aid. Clean flat paper, free from foreign objects, should be put into the collection bins or put into a cardboard box beside your waste can for collection by our custodial staff. To assist the custodial staff it would be appreciated if you would carry your paper to the York Disposal container located beside building D, near the Flower Shop. Newspapers from home can also be deposited into the York container.

Instructional Materials Centre (I.M.C.)

Regular I.M.C. hours for all resources are open from 8:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m. Monday through Friday. Equipment distribution at the North Campus will also be open Monday through Thursday evenings, 5:00 p.m. to 10:30 p.m., exclusive of 5:30 p.m. to 6:00 p.m., and on Saturdays from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. If you have audio visual requirements after these hours please contact Lynne Berry, I.M.C. Equipment Booking, at Extension 397.

I.M.C. point of purchase displays will be stationed in all divisional offices for September. These displays will contain all forms used by I.M.C. for booking media as well as a booklet explaining the I.M.C. services and procedures. The computer listing of all media available from the I.M.C. will also be included. It is I.M.C.'s hope that these displays will make it easier for staff and students to have access to I.M.C. media and services.

Eighty-five new films have been added to the College's film library located in the I.M.C. All titles and film descriptions are contained in the computer listing.

All classroom television sets have been converted to colour. However, approximately 20% of the video tape library is still black and white, their original recording format.

The I.M.C., Physical Resources and the President's Office are currently working on a college message channel in an effort to improve communications within the college. Information of general interest as well as directions to visitors and part-time students will be visually displayed on television monitors located in key positions at the North Campus.

The Student Accident Insurance Plan provides the same coverage as it did in '73 under the $3.00 plan and $1.50 plan. However, effective September 1, 1974 another option is available for $9.00. This includes a prescription drug benefit plus the coverage listed in the $3.00 plan. This coverage is available to all staff. Sorry, no family plan is available. Business Division Open Golf Tourney

The Business Division of Humber College are holding their fourth annual invitational open golf tournament for Sunday, September 22 from 11:00 a.m. to 6:00 p.m.

The tournament will enable students, staff, alumni and business people to meet one another both on the golf course and at the "nineteenth hole".

Cedarhurst Golf Club was chosen as the site because of a pleasant clubhouse and 18 hole course that can be used for ourselves without the typical Sunday pressures of many Toronto courses.

The fee is only $8.00 per person which includes green fees and buffet dinner prepared and served by our Hotel and Restaurant Students (all you can eat). Fees payable on day of tournament or at Business Division office.

If you plan on registering, then please telephone Business Division, 676-1200, Ext. 257 so that we may know the number planning to attend.

Here's how you get to Cedarhurst (located 65 miles north east of Toronto). Take Highway 48 North from Markham to Sutton and East to Port Bolster past Drive Theatre. Turn left off Highway 48 and go into Port Bolster taking the old Highway 48 beach road and it is exactly 5 miles to the golf course.

The tournament will be held rain or shine and trophies and prizes will be awarded in a variety of categories.

Record Employment Pace For Humber College Graduates

Employment among Humber College graduates of post-secondary full-time programs in business, general, applied and creative arts and technical fields is at a record 95 per cent, and College officials predict the final placement rate will be 100 per cent by October.

Art King, Director of Placement for Business and Technology programs at Humber, said the current rate is following the previous year pattern with a larger number of graduates every year. This year more than 4,000 students graduated from Humber.

John Flegg, Associate Registrar for the Retraining and Apprenticeship programs, indicated that all graduates are employed in fields related to their training.

"In fact", said Flegg, "many students are employed prior to graduation and then continue their training part-time during days and evenings on an individualized basis."

At least 12 previous graduates, according to King, came back to the College this year on behalf of their employers to interview and hire current graduates for employment in Weston, Etobicoke, Mississauga, North York and Woodbridge.

He said there were also a higher number of instances where the demand for graduates was greater than the supply. This was true in Business Administration programs, Executive Secretaries, Computer Programming, Electronics and Instructional Materials Technicians.

"We consider as employed only those students who have obtained work related to their training, and do not include unrelated or part-time jobs in the totals", said King.

On the other hand, those not seeking employment are excluded from the statistics, he said.

More than 4,000 full-time students have registered for programs starting in September and last year's part-time enrolment of 48,000 students is predicted to go even higher for the 1974 - 75 school year.

Career Planning and Placement

Operation (Summer) Placement 1974 has been in operation again at Queensway and Keelesdale Campuses since May 1st. The number of students registered and the vacancies notified by employers have been about the same as in 1973. A noticeable drop in the number of Humber College students who registered for summer employment was observed.

Watch for our new brochures: "Moving On After Humber" (for students) and "Humber Students in Your Organization" (for employers).

Library

STAFF CHANGES - we have said goodbye to Lillian Wainwright and Ruth McClellan and welcomed Katherine Yarascavitch and Anita Kulkarni. Anita will be at the North Campus, and Katherine will be at the Queensway Campus, replacing Joanne Collingwood who will replace Ruth at Keelesdale. To ease the squeeze on the available space at the North Campus Library, PERIODICALS and INDEXES will be housed in Room H223. The RANDA BOOKROOM will also be located in a part of this area.

From Halifax to Humber

Bob Short hitch-hiked to Humber last month from his home in Halifax, Nova Scotia.

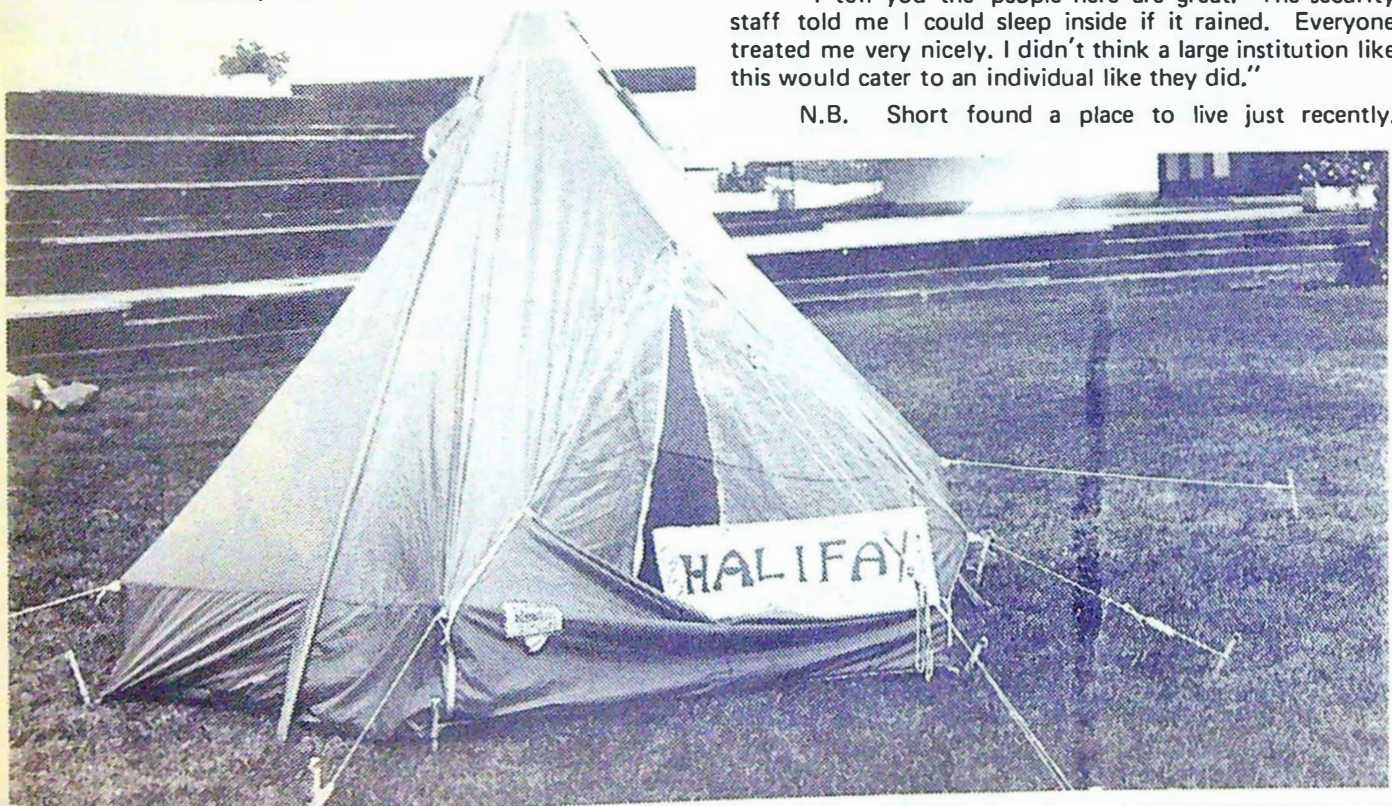

"It took me three days", he said. "I really wanted to come here because I heard a lot of good things about the photography program".

Short was one of the 1,000 out-of-town students attending Humber this year who were without a place to live.

"I didn't know there was a transit strike here and couldn't look for a place to live so I pitched my tent in the amphitheatre for three nights", he said.

"I tell you the people here are great. The security staff told me I could sleep inside if it rained. Everyone treated me very nicely. I didn't think a large institution like this would cater to an individual like they did."

N.B. Short found a place to live just recently.
